

PORTABLE ATELIER

Philippe Nigro,

Philippe Nigro designed a desk with a light look: a top in birch plywood with oak finishing with a flapdoor opening style sets on a structure in steel sheet painted in matt black with details in oak. Its small size and linear design make this elegant desk perfect for use in different places, in an office, or as a console in a living room or bedroom. An accessory kit is available - which contains a side panel, front panel, and sliding element for paper - to allow the desk to be personalised and emphasise the image of a collected personal space. In the collection's "nomadic" spirit, the stool functions well in any room in the house, although it was designed to be used with the desk. Height-adjustable with a round oak seat set on a tripod structure in aluminium sheet painted black, this stool has a playful linear design that matches the base of the desk.

Folding top in birch plywood and oak veneer. Steel structure with cable flap.
