

SERENO

Fredrikson Stallard,

In Sereno Fredrikson Stallard create a moment of calm and solitude. The forms themselves are created from shards of glass violently created by the artists, but they become unified in utter stillness by the inclusion of a simple flat sheet and the transformation of the group into polished stainless steel. This brings a reflection of the three unified elements in the surface, creating another of Fredrikson Stallard's recurring themes, rorschach like symmetrical forms. This even further delivers their nature from turmoil to serenity - they resolve themselves through the reorganization of symmetry.

Sculpture legs in cast aluminum with metallic finish made by Sputtering technology in titanium color. Top in wood particles 18mm thick with a thick plate of mirror-polished stainless steel. Indoor use only.
