

MEGARA

Gordon Guillaumier,

An exercise in style, refinement and essentiality, the Megara features a round backrest that smoothly flows into the armrest and creates a refined detail just before meeting the seat: almost a cushion sinking into the backrest. A terminal element, a day-bed, an ottoman and a coffee table complete the set to convey an idea of full and timeless elegance. A left/right corner element, a central element with two seats, a central element with left/right ottoman, a low table in american walnut and a textile structure complete the offer. The different components and vast range of upholstery offer a wide range of choices and customisation: a sofa that adapts easily to different sized spaces and that is able to satisfy every need. It was created for lovers of classic seating solutions, with a touch of originality.
