

MISS LACY

Philippe Starck,

Obtained from the ancient lost wax casting technique, Miss Lacy represents and makes accessible a baroque lace by transforming it into an embracing shell. Characterized by the expertly pierced shiny mirrored stainless steel. It is unique that compares more to a jewel than to a functional object. The tapered legs are then welded to the shell, once polished, and the final result is a perfect monoblock. It is one of the products with the highest level of craftsmanship of the entire Driade collection.

Patterned shell in stainless steel casting and tubular legs in stainless steel, completely mirror polished and then metallized in polished copper finish made using sputtering technology. Indoor use only.
