

LOU EAT

Philippe Starck with D. Sugawara, "Lou Eat is not a chair, it is an animal-like sculpture that could eat you." Philippe Starck. Lou Eat and Lou Speak, along with Lou Read, form the Lou family, a seating collection that features plastic sculptural shapes. Lou Eat is the easiest and most versatile item in the collection, a small armchair upholstered in leather. Conceived as a dining room seat, it is also ideal as the sole protagonist of spaces. "Lou Eat is not a chair, it is an animal-like sculpture that could eat you." Philippe Starck.

Flexible polyurethane structure with metal insert. Leather fixed cover. It is possible to supply the inside and the outside part in two different categories of leathers; the total price should be considered the one in the higher category between the chosen ones. Indoor use only.
