“One night I had a dream, or rather, a memory surfaced.” “I remember the good old days when sofas were comfortable, when we would shout “wow” and jump on them. I was nostalgic. But I thought maybe it wasn’t such a bad thing, so I created Wow, the sofa that embraces you.” Philippe Starck The new sofa designed by Philippe Starck reinterprets the Royalton sofa, a design icon, created in 1988 for the Royalton Hotel in New York and produced by Driade. Wow is an extremely comprehensive modular system. The two- and three-seater sofas are joined by chaise longues and corner elements that allow for multiple combinations. The shape follows the primary function: comfort, denoted by the high, enveloping backrest and the polyurethane foam and goose down padding.
